MOOSE JAW Farmers' Institute and Agri- cultural Society

FIRST ANNUAL DINNER.

A Grand Success in Every Way.

Large Attendance, Excellent Speeches, Great Enthusiasm.

The above dinner was held at the Ottawa House here, on Wednesday evening, the 17th instant. Mr. S. K.
Rathwell, President of the Farmers'
Institute, and Mr. A. Dalgarno, President of the Agricultural Society, occupied the Chair and Vice-Chair respectively. The large dining room of the hotel could not accommodate all those who desired to attend. Among those present, we noticed Mr. Nicholas Flood Davis, M. P.; Mr. James H.
Ross, M. L. A.; Mr. Angus McKay,
Superintendent of the Indian Head Experimental Farm; Dr. Turnbull, G.
M. Annable, J. A. Calder, J. N. Mc-Donald, Wm. Watson, R. L. Alexander, J. G. Gordon, W. J. Nelson, E. N.
Hopkins, J. W. McIntosh, G. Paisley,
J. Bastelo, O. B. Fysh, J. Ostrander,
G. W. Kent, R. and A. Wilson, A.
Carle, J. Campbell, H. Battell, J. E.
Annable, F. G. Herrier, D. McLean,
R. Jones, R. H. Riddell, G. B. Wallace, R. O. Miller, and others whose names we were unable to secure.

After the usual loyal toasts were drunk, the Chairman proposed the 'House of Commons' and coupled with it the name of Nicholas Flood Davis, M. P. The member made one of his usual eulogistic speeches commending the ability and statesmanship of the rank and file of the House. He expressed the great pleasure it afforded him to be present at the first annual joint dinner of the Association and Society. He prophesied that great benefits must accrue to the farmers of the District, from their joint action
and efforts.

The next toast was to the success of the 'Experimental Farm, Indian Head', coupled with the name of Angus Mc-Kay, the Superintendent. Mr. Mc-Kay, in response, congratulated the farmers of the District on their past success and predicted a bright future
for this section of the North West.

Mr. Speaker Ross, replied to the toast of the North West Legislative Assembly, briefly referring to the work of the late Session. He believed that in future a large proportion of the immigration to the Canadian North West would be drawn from the Northwestern States and Territories, and that much better results could be produced in this direction if a sum of money
were placed in the hands of the Legislative Assembly for immigration purposes. He congratulated Mr. Davin on the stand he had taken for North West rights in the House of Commons.

'The Educational Interests' was ably responded to by Mr. J. A. Calder, of the Moose Jaw High School, who urged the farmers to take advantage of the excellent facilities for higher education for their children, afforded by the Moose Jaw Union School.

Messrs. Wm. Watson and Henry Battell did full justice to the 'Agricultural Interests.' Both gentlemen were of the opinion that 'Smut' was the greatest enemy that the farmers of this district had to encounter.

'The Press' was enthusiastically drunk, and was responded to by Messrs.
J. N. McDonald and Hamilton Lang.
'Canada Our Home' was received with enthusiasm, and responded to by Messrs. E. N. Hopkins and J. N. Mc-Donald. In his eloquent address Mr.
Hopkins took up the social institutions of the country and compared them with those of other countries, showing that in the arts of civilization, Canadians were in the front rank among the foremost nations of the world.

Mr. McDonald referred to the immense area and wonderful resources of the country, and held that Canadians should be proud of their grand heritage.
In referring to the products of the maritime provinces, he characterized them as Fish, Coal, Politicians and Presbyterian Ministers.

The toast 'Mercantile Interests,' was coupled with the names of Messrs.
Hague, Robinson and Baker, but, as these gentlemen were absent, Mr. J.
E. Annable came to the rescue and responded.

'The Legal Profession,' was responded to by Messrs. Gordon and Nelson, both of whom made very happy speeches.

Mr. Annable in response to 'The Farmers,' urged upon the farmers
the importance of mixed farming.

'Municipal Interests,' fell to the lot of Mr. O. B. Fysh, who responded in a stirring manner.

'The Ladies' was received with gusto, and was responded to by Messrs. Alexander and Nelson.

Mr. Gordon ably replied to the toast,
'The Bachelors.'

Space will not permit us to give the entire list. Songs by Messrs. Watson, Lang, Bastelo, and Paisley, were given during the evening.

The singing of 'Auld Lang Syne' brought a happy evening to a close.

FARMERS' MEETING.

A Most Successful Meeting in Russell Hall.

On Wednesday about two hundred people assembled in Russell Hall.

The Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society and, with characteristic energy, arranged for a monster meeting of farmers and others.
Arrangements were made with Mr.
Angus McKay, of Indian Head;
N. E. Davin, member for Western Assiniboia; and Mr. J. H.
Ross, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, to be present and deliver addresses.

The Chairman, Mr. S. K. Rathwell, called the meeting to order, and after a few introductory remarks, called upon the speaker of the day.

Mr. McKay, in opening, stated that last year was severe at Indian Head.
He had many difficulties to contend with, but his experiments were fairly successful. Special attention was given to the experiments in wheat, the object of which was to determine the best wheat for the Northwest. After several experiments he had produced a hybrid between Red Fyfe and Ladoga, which partook of the hardness of the former and the earliness of the latter, being eight days earlier than Red Fyfe. Heavy seeding he found, was not advisable, unless the spring was very dry. Wheat planted at a depth of one inch gave the best returns, and seeding broadcast gave the best results.

Smut, he said does more serious danger than frost. He found the simplest and most effective preventative to be bluestone in the proportion of one pound to ten bushels of seed.

The lecturer gave an account of an elaborate experiment to test the efficacy of smulding as a safe-guard against frost. After a careful test he had come to the conclusion that there was 'nothing in smoke.'

He had given considerable time and attention to the best time for cutting wheat, and had come to the conclusion that too early cutting gives a poor return and a bad sample.

In experimenting with forest trees
45,000 seedlings were planted but all were injured except the American elm and the white ash; all else were cut to the ground. Mr. McKay advised all the farmers to fall back on the native varieties.

The best way to summer fallow was found to be gully ploughing in the fall in order to start weeds and volunteer grain, plow again in the spring, and if necessary harrow two or three times.
This process gave by far the best results.

In experimenting with fruits, it was found that no varieties of apples have been found that are suitable for the Northwest. Every tree planted was killed to the ground every year; plums,
cherries and pears met the same fate.
Experiments in small fruits gave good
results.

After extensive tests in fodder plants
it was found that a mixture of rye and barley gave the most satisfactory results.

At the farm are four breeds of cattle
viz., Yorkshire, Holstein, Polled Angus, and Durham, all of which have done well. The best results in feeding were obtained from feeding ensilage, turnips and natural hay.

Mr. McKay exhibited a collection of natural and cultivated grasses, and also a collection of grains illustrating his experiments.

The chairman then called upon Mr.
Davin, who congratulated the farmers
upon their success of their meeting.
In an exceedingly humorous way he denounced Mr. McKay for advocating an unholy marriage between a White Ladoga and a Red Fyfe. He said while

Supt. McKay was instructing the farmers in the process of freezing wheat from smut, by the use of bluestone, he himself was wishing for a moral blustation which would free our country
of political smut.

The speaker then went exhaustively into the doings of Parliament, so far as they affected the farming community;
After which he dealt with several Northwest measures.

Speaker Ross followed and said he would not speak at any length, as he would have other opportunities of addressing the farmers of Moose Jaw.

He thanked them for the honor they had done him in inviting him to speak at a farmers meeting, and expressed the hope that the interesting lecture, to which they had just listened, would be productive of much good, not only to the farmers, but to everyone present.

A memorial praying that the duty
on binding twine be reduced was presented to Mr. Davin, who promised that he would move in the matter.

On motion of Mr. R. L. Alexander, seconded by Mr. Hamilton Lang, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers.

A vote of thanks to the chairman, moved by Mr. Davin and seconded by Mr. McKay, closed one of the most successful meetings ever held in our town.

CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the town of Moose Jaw, was held in Russell Hall, on Wednesday the 17th inst. at 11 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.
The President, Mr. Baker in the chair.
The following gentlemen were elected as the officers for the ensuing year:

President, Henry Battell; Vice-President, W. J. Nelson; Secretary,
R. L. Alexander; Treasurer, C. A.
Gass; Executive Committee, J. G.
Gordon, E. N. Hopkins and G. M.
Annable.

There was a good attendance of members. After the transaction of routine business, Mr. N. E. Davin delivered one of his usual stirring addresses.

He expressed himself as pleased to be present and regretted his inability to fulfil his promise, some weeks earlier, to attend a meeting of the Association and of the Agricultural Society, owing to the Herchmer investigation, then at its commencement.

Referring to this commission, he stated, that it was not, as some newspapers allege, a personal matter. It was, at the urgent request of many of his constituents, not members of the Police Force, that he advocated the granting of a commission. It was, having regard to the many serious charges made, in the interest, also, of the Commissioner that there should be a thorough investigation. If the charges were ill-founded, then Mr.
Herchmer would be acquitted. If proven, then the Commissioner was unfit to hold the position occupied by him.

As the investigation was pending
he could not express himself, in regard to what the result might be. The Chairman's report would most probably be laid before Parliament at its coming Session, and action would be taken upon it.

He feelingly referred to the decease
of Sir John, and Premier Abbott's fitness and ability to succeed him.

Many prophesied that the death of our late lamented leader, meant the downfall and demise of the Liberal Conservative party, but he never had any such fears. The principles of the party were too much in accord with the sentiments and interests of the great bulk of the Canadian people.
They were too well established, too deeply rooted, to be shaken even by the decease of their time honored leader.

Reference was made to the charges of Departmental mismanagement and political corruption, and to the desire of the Conservative party to eliminate from its ranks, every man, be he Minister or Officer, guilty of either offence.

In conclusion he expressed a desire,
as he was just about to return to his Parliamentary duties, that his constituents in the Moose Jaw District would inform him of any special matters, directly affecting them, which might require his attention on the floor of the House.

His only desire, was, as effectively as lay in his power, to advocate their interests in the House of Commons.

per cent less than that of an ordinary steamer of equal carrying capacity. If the contract be entered upon, and there is every probability that it will, the hull will be built in Owen Sound, and the engines and boilers in this city.

A young lady who had been married little over a year wrote to her mother-in-law, saying: "We have the loveliest little cottage in the world, ornamented with the most charming little crockery you ever saw." The old man read it, and claimed: "Just as I expected! Twins, thunder!"

SALARIES OF MAIL CLERKS.

The Railway Mail Clerks of the Manitoba division, which extends from Port Arthur to Calgary, have met in Winnipeg during the past week. The object of their convention was to take measures to draw the attention of the Postmaster General to the results that followed the cutting down of their salaries last year.

The Department has reduced the provisional allowances and mileage of these clerks. The provisional allowance now amounts to but 10% of the salary instead of 25 and 40 per cent. as formerly. The mileage has been reduced from 1 cent per mile for day work, and 1 1/2 cents for night work, to 1/2 cent, and 1 cent respectively.

The Department, in taking this action have probably taken the life of the eastern Mail Clerk as a standard. In the older provinces, clerks are subject to slight expense as compared with clerks in the West. In the east their 'trips' are usually of only a day's duration, and generally consist of round trips. This enables them to live in one place. In the west the runs are seldom less than three days long, and the clerk is compelled to have two regular places of abode.

And further; in this country the actual necessities of life are dearer by 25% than in the east, while the cost of fuel is 60 per cent. greater. The remuneration of labor increases with the cost of living. It is safe to say that wages in this country are from 60 to 70 per cent. greater than in the east.

The Railway Mail Clerks are selected from the most reliable of Post office employees. Their work is unremitting, and necessitates a constant strain on mind and body.

It is to be hoped that such pressure may be brought to bear upon the Department, that the clause cutting down their salaries may not only be amended, but that they will receive such an increase in their salaries as their necessities require, and the merits of their case demand.

LET US CONVERSE.

In another column will be found a letter from a gentleman who is now in England. In that letter he complains of the lack of enterprise displayed by the people of Moose Jaw in not properly advertising the district. He points out the folly of allowing a lecturer from Moose Jaw to be the means of advertising another town. We quote from his letter:

At the close of the lecture, a large amount of literature was distributed among the people, amongst which I noticed a large number of Regina pamphlets furnished by the Board of Trade there. I was sorry that Moose Jaw had not been equally enterprising.

This line of thought may be pursued still further. The criticism will apply to almost every public measure that has been mooted in our town. In nearly every case, where joint action would accomplish everything, the burden has been taken from the shoulders of the many and laid upon the backs of a few.

The speech of a famous Athenian, although haughty and arrogant when applied to himself, has been a grave and wise observation and censure when applied at large to others. When desired at a feast to touch a lute, he said, "He could not fiddle, but yet he could make a small town a great city." These words may express two different abilities in those whose business it is to deal with town affairs; for if a true survey be taken there will be found those, (though they are few and far between) which can make a small town great, and yet cannot fiddle; as, on the other hand there will be found a great many who can fiddle very cunningly, but would bring a town to bankruptcy and ruin. And certainly those arts and shifts by which many gain both favor and estimation deserve no better name than fiddling, being things rather pleasant for the time, and advantageous to themselves only, than tending to the advancement of the place in which they live. The principle of 'every man for himself' is an exceeding unworthy one, and little is to be hoped for when everyone is grinding his own axe.

In speaking of a certain town in the Territories, it has become a by-word that if a single word is spoken against one of its inhabitants, the whole town is up in arms and bristling with resentment. But what of ourselves? Can we hope for better things when our community is torn by petty strifes?

Can we name a municipal election in which was not raised the cry of "Railroad against the town," "One church against some other church", when probably such thoughts existed solely in the minds of the very persons who raised the cry?

The remedy is implied in the evil. Let us endeavor by every means in our power to foster a feeling of public spiritedness. Let us be as one upon every question that affects ourselves as a community.

THE FARMERS' MEETING.

The importance of Wednesday's meeting, not only to the farming portion of our citizens, but to every resident of Moose Jaw, is by no means of a light nature. Those who were present had the privilege of listening to a practical and successful farmer. Many questions were discussed by him, that affected closely the farming and ranching industries of this region. Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of the interesting experiments that have been carried on at Indian Head, the results of which have been tabulated and arranged for the benefit of farmers and others.

The meeting was especially instructive to those who have neither the time nor the facilities to experiment on so large a scale as can be done at the experimental farms.

It is extremely gratifying that so many took advantage of the meeting.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir Edwin Arnold, the author of "The Light of Asia," has been amusing himself by relating a few anecdotes of the Japanese, one of which is calculated to make us pause, for Sir Edwin says:—

"You could not swear in Japanese, you could not abuse anybody in Japanese, and you could not tell a person to go, rudely or roughly, in Japanese." The worst thing you can say in Japanese is "Fellow!" or if you are very much put out you say, "There! there!"

And what is more the lecturer states that there is not a bad word in the Japanese dictionary. But this is not startling, for some of the choicest and most soothing expressions of our own language are not found in the English dictionary; while we need not remind our readers that in the bright lexicon of youth, (a work, by the way, that we have not seen yet,) there is no such word as fail. But to take Sir Edwin's plain statement that the Japs cannot swear: Do you really mean it, Sir Edwin, or to use Mark Twain's phrase, are you 'playing us for Chinamen,' because, unlike you, we have not been to that tight little island which produces tea and the materials for comic operas?

An intelligent man, Sir Edwin, do you mean to assert that when a Jap, on going upstairs in the dark, places his foot down where there is no step, would merely remark, "There, there!" When a Japanese carpenter hits his thumb nail instead of the iron one he is trying to drive, does he smile sweetly and beg his own pardon? And anyway, what does the Japanese Editor say when he finds three columns of copy short and ten minutes left to go to press in? Does he go around saying "Fellow!" and "There!"?

It is all very well for you, Sir Edwin, to make a general statement and expect us to swallow it like so much poetry; but if you mean to assert that a Jap who has been dunned by the Town Inspector for his Poll-tax simply says "There!" you have tried to place a large order on our credulity.

The following we clip from the Chicago Daily News:—

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Representative railway mail clerks now at the capital working for their bill to reorganize the railway mail service, and give a substantial increase of salary, were assured to-day that a favorable report will be made from the house committee on post offices and post roads next Tuesday.

The postal clerks have all along feared the most serious opposition to their bill in the house, and the assurance of favorable action by the house committee is considered an unusual triumph. With a favorable report and the bill so early upon the house calendar, its friends are confident the measure will become a law at this session if not within a few weeks.

The senate committee on postoffices and post roads has given assurance of prompt affirmative action upon the bill when it is passed by the house.

The following which is important to sportsmen and farmers, we clip from an exchange:—

The end of the close season for ducks, geese, snipe and plover in the Territories has been changed from Sept. 1st to August 15th, and the close season for prairie chicken commences on Jan. 1st instead of Feb. 1st, as formerly. No prairie chicken are allowed to be sold except by the party who has caught or killed them, the idea being to prevent wholesale killing and marketing of these birds. The consumer is, however, still permitted to purchase them directly from the hunter.

Waghorn's Guide for February contains the new Northern Pacific Time card, and that of the Great North-Western.

We also notice that a weekly service is scheduled west of Melita on the Souris extension. The guide contains a list of the new post offices opened, and the list of the locations has been carefully revised. The list of bankers in Manitoba and the Northwest has received some additions and the table is complete to date. In the municipal list the names of the officers and addresses for the current year are given. The Atlantic steamship sailings for February and March are also shown. The guide gives wonderful value for its small price.

The attention of the town council is called to the fact that itinerant traders are doing a thriving business in town. It is unfair to our merchants that traders should be allowed to go from house to house, selling, and soliciting orders for merchandise. The council should take immediate steps to have this by-law enforced. If a few offenders were summoned before our local magistrates, this nuisance would soon be rooted out.

At the farmers' banquet on Wednesday evening, many of our business men were conspicuous by their absence.

CONCERNING THE NORTH-WEST.

The following letter, from the pen of one of Moose Jaw's prosperous farmers, appeared in the last issue of the Clinton New Era.

To the Editor of the Clinton New Era.

Dear Sir,—As several of my friends and acquaintances are anxious to hear about the North West Territories and the way to go west, and as I have not the time to visit them all, I ask you to insert the following:—I located in the spring of 1883 in the Moose Jaw District, which is composed of all that part of the Northwest Territories, being and included between range 23, west of 2nd principal meridian line, and range 6, west of the 3rd meridian line from the Inter national boundary on the south to the Saskatchewan on the north. It is 180 miles long by 78 miles wide, and comprises an area of 14,040 square miles. Almost the whole of this large extent of country is admirably adapted for mixed farming. Since its first settlement the district has made a steady advance in improvement and development, although a partial failure in 1886 retarded its progress, since then the crops have been good. Good prices have been paid for all kinds of farm produce, and the success of the district is now assured. After more than nine years experience in farming in the Moose Jaw District, I am fully satisfied that in spite of some climatic drawbacks this country ranks second to none for wheat growing, an average of 30 to 35 bushels per acre is reported for the past season of 1891. One of the drawbacks I have reference to is summer frosts (although we are less liable to have them than Manitoba.) Farmers who wish to grow the highest grades of wheat must do everything in their power to hasten the ripening of their grain. This I think can be done in several ways. The first and most important of which is to get the seed in the ground in the previous summer and autumn, the land intended to be sown with wheat in the spring, either by summer fallowing or breaking and back-setting, which seldom fails to give a large yield. With many of the first settlers the breaking and back-setting of the virgin prairie will soon be a thing of the past, so most of them will have all the available wheat land under cultivation. A systematic course of summer fallowing will then have to be resorted to as a means of resting and cleansing the land. Another and simple means of preparing land for wheat which has given satisfactory results, both as to yield and early maturing, is by sowing without reaping on the stubble, either by drilling in the seed after the surface has been prepared by the use of the disc harrow, or drilling in on the stubble and simply harrowing. This method should only be resorted to when the land is free from weeds, which is usually found in fields that were fallowed the previous summer.

Next spring, in particular, there will be a large area sown in this way. This district offers several advantages to intending settlers, such as good land near the thriving town of Moose Jaw, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, good schools and churches in active operation in nearly every part of the district. Thanking you for space, I remain, yours,

JOHN G. BRESLY.

To the Editor of the Times.

Dear Sir,—During my stay here, I have received, from time to time, copies of the Moose Jaw paper, and by this means, and by letters from my numerous friends, I have been kept pretty well posted on matters concerning the town and country round. I heard with much sorrow of the calamity which has lately befallen the town, and more especially of the loss of life which unfortunately attended it. We mourn with those that mourn. It was very nice to read of the ready sympathy and help which was afforded to the sufferers, by those who have fortunately escaped loss, and it is gratifying to see, that not being discouraged or faint hearted, you have with true Canadian pluck and enterprise, already begun to re-build on the site of the fire.

I hear that the crop of 1891 was very fine, and you will not be surprised, when I say that I was very pleased at the news. There is no doubt that one of the results of this, will be a largely increased emigration from this country to the North West. Another good sign of the times, is that quite a number of weddings have taken place in your midst; and I take this opportunity of congratulating some of my personal friends who have taken this important step, and of wishing them all happiness in their married life.

I view with great sorrow the possible adoption of the License System in the North West Territories, and would urge on all the friends of temperance, the importance of supporting prohibition. Drink is the cause of England and by reading our papers, day after day, I find that nearly all the assaults, murders and suicides are committed by those who are addicted to it. By allowing the sale of it in our peaceful and temperate country, you are establishing an evil, which it will not only be almost impossible to uproot, but which will become a source of continual and enormous expenditure to the people, demoralizing and impoverishing them.

Many friends will be interested to hear that I have just received a visit from our esteemed friend the Rev. Dr. McLean, Pastor of the Moose Jaw Methodist Church, and of Wesley Church, (Pioneer and Marlboro') As most of you know,—he is on a lecturing tour through England, Scotland and Wales. He arrived in Havertonwest on Saturday Jan. 30th and on Sunday, preached morning and evening in the Wesleyan church in this town, and in the afternoon addressed a very large assembly of children from the various Sunday Schools. On Monday evening he delivered a lecture on "Life among the Cowboys" to a crowded audience and exhibited a beautiful collection of Blackfoot and Sioux Indian relics. A lady and gentleman, on the platform, wore the Indian costumes and the lecturer himself appeared in a buckskin suit. At the close of the lecture, a large amount of literature was distributed among the people, amongst which I noticed a large number of Regina pamphlets furnished by the board of trade there. I was sorry that Moose Jaw had not been equally enterprising. Both the sermons on Sunday and the lecture were highly appreciated and as a North Wester, I felt proud of being able to claim the Doctor as a fellow-countryman. Now, with kind regards to all friends, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR L. DAVIES.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

Second Session of the Homestead Club.

All present—John in the chair.

John.—We shall review our proceedings once in six months, thus dispensing with the reading of minutes. Four friends wish to join: Miss Phylis Yellowleaf, Miss Mary Maybuid, and Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Quaverful. Shall they be admitted to full membership? All are agreed. Friends, we welcome you.

We resume the consideration of the question, "Why is marriage neglected in the Canadian North West?"—All, your turn comes next.

Alf. (Well to do, good looking and knows it.) Sir, I am a bachelor by choice. Admitting for argument's sake a general obligation to marry, I repudiate the inference of an individual responsibility. There are men, Sir, obviously created for a sphere of usefulness, and a destiny above the humdrum of domestic life. The statesman, the warrior, the devotee of science and art, have either been freed from the restrictions of married life, or have been chafed and hindered by them. But dealing, Sir, practically, with this—ah—question in its application to this age—ah—and country,—while there may be bachelors whose condition would be improved by marriage, there are many married couples who had better have remained single. Better, Sir, for each other and for society. I could, Sir, picture the interior of some so-called homes, where women reign, (and storm) and where children abound, which are more repulsive to cultured sense than the average bachelor's abode. I could name such, but I refrain.

Hank.—About time. I hope we shall not hear another such refrain upon this subject. Because a household of healthy, and therefore noisy children offends a supersensitive eye and ear, marriage must be neglected or abolished. Had we not better adopt the socialistic Philanthropy designed by Fourier, or the monastic commune? That defence of an infelicitous policy will not wash. The confirmed bachelors, as a class, are simply drifting. Their lives are controlled by the incidents of each day or week. The great majority would rather be married, but sloth hinders some from making the necessary exertion to gain the affection of a worthy maiden; pride hinders others who dread a refusal; and timidity leads many to shrink the ordeal of proposing. All, or nearly all, lack wit or pluck to make love to a sensible woman, and the girls with quick perception see through, and despise, and avoid them. Some have hinted to me that they would like to employ an agent to bring about matrimony, but I remind them how ill Miles Standish sped in such a venture. I don't take the world into my confidence, but I have plans, and a solitary life forms no part of them.

John.—It remains for us to hear the views of the newly admitted members, all of whom will speak in the order in which they joined the club.

Miss Yellowleaf.—I suppose it's my turn, Mr. President, but I don't see how the question concerns me. Men will be so—so stupid, or whatever it is. Perhaps I am to blame for discouraging some of them, (why do you laugh, Mr. Hank?) I mean that I have—yes I have indeed—refused—oh, I don't know how many. Poor fellows how broken up they were, and yet I don't know how the girls can give up their sweet liberty, and go through such dreadful trouble with fever and whooping cough, and yet the poor boys are in a terrible plight in some of those places where they eat and sleep. Mary and I drove past one of those queer houses with a padlock on the door, and no clothes-line, or fowls, or laughing or crying, but all slovenly and quiet. We, that is I, peeped in, not that we were a bit curious, but for fear that the poor boy was sick. He was working in the field and came over where he saw us. I proposed, (what are you laughing at, Mr. Hank?) I proposed that we should fix things up a little. I never knew before that men were so helpless about housework. Why I could have made that place almost pleasant in half an hour. But Mary whispered that our intentions might be misunderstood. Sometimes when I think of the poor boys all alone I fancy I might overcome my repugnance to marriage. But oh, dear! I didn't mean to say so much. Isn't it funny to make a speech. Of course public speakers don't mean all they say.

Dairy Exhibits at the Industrial.

The following circular has been sent to members of the Manitoba Dairy Association and to exhibitors at the last Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition. In requesting its publication Mr. Burrows says he will be happy to get information and suggestions on the points referred to in it, from any one who may feel interested enough to offer them:—

THE NORTH WEST FARMER AND MILLER,

Winnipeg, Feb. 3, 1892.

Dear Sir:—As representative of the Manitoba Dairy Association on the Board of Directors of the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition, I am anxious to have such changes made in the butter and cheese classes in the prize list as will tend to secure the thorough success of this important branch of the exhibition to be held in July next. I am therefore communicating with all members of the Dairy Association and with all who exhibited butter or cheese at last year's exhibition, for the purpose of learning their views. I shall be glad to receive any suggestions you may desire to offer as to changes or additions to the prize list and also as to any alterations in the rules relating to dairy exhibits which you may deem advisable.

As requested at the recent annual meeting of the Dairy Association I shall strongly urge the erection of a special building for the exhibit of dairy products. Any suggestions you may offer me as to the plan for such a building, as to the ways of exhibiting the products, and as to the best plan of keeping the building sufficiently cool, will be much appreciated.

As the prize list committee is likely to begin work at an early date I shall be glad to hear from you as soon as possible.

I may add that I have sent to Dairy Commissioner Robertson at Ottawa a full list of the members of the Association, with the request that he will send them his bulletins regularly as issued.

Yours truly,

ACTON BURROWS.

Brandon Briefs.

Eighty-two delegates attended the Y. M. C. A. convention here last week.

Tom Lockhart's rink brought home four bronze medals from Winnipeg bonspiel, and Kelly's rink, composed of Shillinglaw, Dan Stewart, Hanbury and Kelly, won the consolation prize, and a $175 prize at St. Paul.

Several contracts have been let for several blocks on Rosser Avenue, and plans are being prepared for a large number of private residences. Everything points in the direction of a busy season for the building trade.

The Imperial Bank building is completed and will be occupied at once. This is the best bank building in Brandon and is second to none west of Winnipeg. It is fitted up with all latest improvements in bank furniture, heated with hot water, and has ample accommodation for a staff of ten or twelve clerks.

THE NEW HERD ORDINANCE.

The following are some of the chief provisions of the Herd Ordinance which has just received the assent of the Lieutenant Governor.

Sections two and three provides that:—

"Upon application as prescribed in the act to the Lieutenant Governor, of two thirds of the male inhabitants over eighteen years of age, of any district not over 144 miles square, he may erect such districts into a herd district from and after a date, to be fixed by him. The sum of $50.00 should accompany the application to be for cost of inserting application in the Official Gazette."

Section four provides that a majority of the said inhabitants may apply to the Lieut. Governor to alter the time in each year, within which provisions of section seven of the act shall apply.

Section six applies to the appointment by the Lieut. Governor of one or more pound-keepers.

Sections 7, 8, and 9 are as follows:—

7 The owner or occupier of any land within any such herd district may, subject to the provisions of the next following section hereof and within the time or times in each year therein provided in relation to such district, distrain all animals doing damage upon his cultivated lands or stacks of grain, and when any such distress is made the distrainer may keep and properly feed such animals in some secure place other than the public pound until his damages are appraised, or he may at once impound the same, notifying the pound-keeper that damages are, or are not claimed, and if claimed, the amount thereof.

8 The provisions of the next preceding sections thereof shall apply and the right of distress therein mentioned shall be exercised only within the times hereinafter mentioned, that is to say:—

(a) In any herd district created before the passing of this ordinance in respect of which no order made under the provisions of section four of this ordinance is in force, between the 15th day of May and the 31st day of October in each year.

(b) In any herd district created under the provisions of this ordinance in respect of which no order made under the provisions of said section four is in force, within the time or times specified in the order creating such district.

(c) In any herd district in respect of which an order made under the provisions of said section four, is in force, within the time or times specified in the last of such orders relating to such districts.

9 Such distress shall be made at any time before such animals doing damage as aforesaid, escape from such lands or while followed and kept in sight by the party sustaining damages, or by any person being on the said land at the time such damage is done, and without regard to the sufficiency of the fence thereon.

Sections 10 and 16, inclusive provide for the appraisal and payment of damages, and in default of payment for the impounding and sale of the animals.

Section 19 provides as follows:—

19 The provisions of this ordinance shall not apply in the district west of range sixteen, west of the third principal meridian, and hereafter all municipalities shall be and are hereby withdrawn from the operation of this ordinance, and shall not be included in any herd district to be formed under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 20 provides a scale of fees and costs.

Section 21 abolishes all previous herd ordinances, and also provides that all herd districts heretofore created are continued, subject to the provisions of the ordinance.

SAWYER VS. BASKERVILLE.

An Important Suit for Farmers and Implement Dealers.

This case has recently been decided by Mr. Justice Williams, in the Manitoba courts.

Following a similar case in the Ontario courts of Sawyer vs. Pringle (20 Ontario reports), it decides points of considerable interest to the vendors of agricultural implements, and the purchasers thereof.

The plaintiffs are vendors of implements. After the sale and delivery of the engine and separator in question, to the defendant, and after default in payment of a portion of the purchase money, the plaintiffs under a provision in the agreement for sale, re-took possession of the engine etc., and resold them, crediting the proceeds of resale, on the original purchase money.

This action was then brought against the original purchasers to recover the balance of the purchase money, after crediting the proceeds of the resale.

The court dismissed the plaintiff's action with costs, holding that the retaking of possession by them, rescinded the original agreement for sale, and that they could not sue for the purchase money, or any part thereof.

Their only action was a special action for damages, for breach of the contract by the defendant, who had refused to keep and pay for the goods sold and delivered to him.
